

The Air Circuits

Auric:

Situated approximately 6 inches above the head.

Crown:

Test point situated on the crown.

Third Eye:

Test point situated on the third eye.

Throat:

Test point situated at mid throat.

The Third Eye, Crown and Auric circuits feed the pineal gland. The pineal gland is situated in the center of the brain and although surrounded by grey matter is responsible for the absorption of light. Light is distributed through the central nervous system into every cell and all DNA. The re-introduction of electromagnetic input to the pineal will rejuvenate this gland and thus it will absorb more light – light to which the disconnected helixes are coded to respond.