

PREFACE

Over the years that we have experienced the Template Ceremonies as they emerged we have come to know Juliet and Jiva Carter as unassuming, private people who have entered the public arena due to the necessity of the job they have pledged to undertake. The decision to write ‘Worldbridger’ was not made lightly. It became clear that a personal account of their journey of discovery was necessary to explain and contextualize the Template. The living of this story, and the telling of it, has required almost inconceivable resilience and courage. As editors, we have come to honor and respect the fierce integrity of the hard-won Hawk Medicine carried by Juliet Carter. This vision and focus have been essential to deliver the Template message.

In the spring of 2007, the sixth and final Template Ceremony took place in Glastonbury, England, signaling the completion of the ‘download’ process to which Juliet and Jiva have been dedicated for nearly two decades and the beginning of the next phase heralded by the publication of this book.

In receiving and integrating the Template mandate the authors have been challenged to think the unthinkable and express the near-inexpressible. The Template model of transcendence is radical and unprecedented, but so are the times in which we live. Our planet is in crisis and Humanity is called to awaken from the collective amnesia of ages.

The apocalypse, a term usually synonymous with destruction, means, in fact, 'uncovering'. In this time of prophecy many mysteries, secrets and lies are now being exposed. Our history has been 'spun', falsified and scrambled by those who have ruled from the shadows, but the masks are starting to slip. As we approach the portal of 2012, disturbing revelations of an alien agenda on Earth are coming to light, with far-reaching implications for Humanity.

The choices we make at this fulcrum point are crucial. The Template's holonomic model of transcendence provides an alchemical system of integration that allows for the understanding, acceptance and transformation of Humanity's eons of suffering and betrayal. It is not intended for a spiritual elite, but for all Human beings of any age, race or creed who wonder what is happening to our planet and our people - who feel, however dimly, the stirring of the remembrance of their quintessential identity.

The Human Soul Covenant contains a holonomic symbiotic code in which the Human design is the sensory organ for planetary ascension as Earth is the sensory organ for Human ascension. The codes of the Template Ceremonies resurrect our ability to translate and utilize, through our physical bodies, the language of light - to achieve, literally, en-light-enment.

The shamanic initiations that were necessary to retrieve the codes which reactivate, through resonance, dormant genetic material within the original Human 'blueprint' were exacting. However, the alchemy of the Template ceremonies ensures that the instigation of individual and collective transmutation is accomplished safely, holistically and with grace. Such is the gift offered by those who have bridged the worlds.

As more and more people accelerate their personal frequency through the reconnection of bio-circuitry, the feedback we receive on the transformations in their perceptions and their lives confirms and reinforces our appreciation of the Template as an empowering model of transcendence which honors the Human as a sovereign, sentient entity.

The Template acknowledges the body as the pinnacle of the manifestation of our spiritual identity. As conscious conduits of light and life eternal we are the sacred enclosure for the sacred marriage of the Sun and the Earth. The core message that 'Worldbringer' delivers is that it is through the reinstatement of our electromagnetic integrity that we and our Earth will be re-embraced into the divine immortal continuum. We are not only worldbridgers - we are the bridge.
